Talaash is a group of musically talented individuals who came together in search of finding a common soul. The search ended when they started making music together. Their music is acoustic and original and lyrical. In a day and age where non-film is struggling to survive, Talaash aims to create a mark with their own style which is not experimental but is unique in presentation. A style that promises to have an instant connect.

Talaash believe in ArtistAloud.com. They say, “ArtistAloud.com is one of the most wonderful things happening in our times. We hope that this would be a big turning point in the lives and career of the innumerable talented artistes across the country, especially for those who have a very little exposure or hardly have that at all. The platform has offered the artistes a huge opportunity to showcase their work to the world that too without compromising the honesty of the creation. On behalf of the entire artist community we wish that the endeavor called ArtistAloud.com become a milestone.”

Talaash have been hand picked by ArtistAloud.com to join a group of passionate individuals showcasing music that is close to their heart.
