Alternative Pop
English

For Mukul Deora - a multi-disciplinary artist living in Mumbai, it's been quite a journey. From pioneering electronic dance music (bhavishyavani) in India in the mid 90s to co-founding new-media collectives, Mukul moved to experimental sound performances and released his debut album 'Stray' in 2006, which reached number 12 in the Indian charts. He recently launched the UK Cultural Olympics with an audio-visual collaboration and performed at the Serpentine Gallery, London, as part of the Indian Highway show.

Early this year, Mukul launched his record label, Dudup, at the Serpentine Gallery, with a compilation of abstract electronica. He also performed at TED India, where he collaborated with Kalaripayattu dancers to create a piece called The Wandering Arrow- a juxtaposition of an ancient Indian martial form with modern abstract electronic music.

On asking why take the Digital approach, Mukul says, "You mean using the internet as a means of Promotion? Distribution??? Because it's the only way! ArtistAloud.com is a great initiative, essential for the music scene to grow."

Mukul Deora has been hand picked by ArtistAloud.com to join a group of passionate individuals showcasing music that is close to their heart.
